Why do the leaves change color ?

Leaves are made up of three main pigments which appear as colors in leaves.

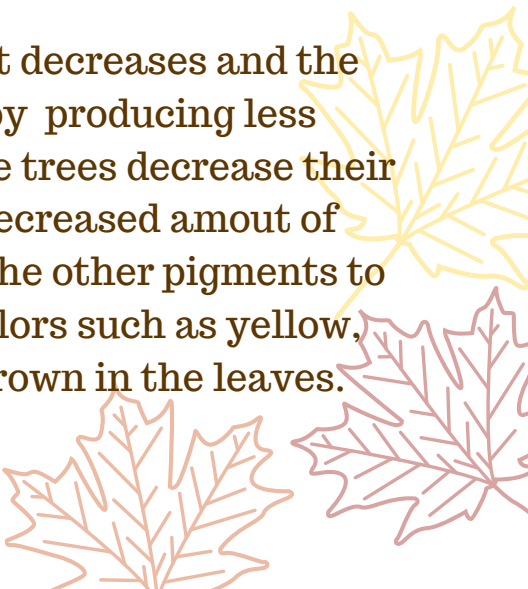

The first and most important pigment is chlorophyll which helps trees use sunlight to create food. it also appears as the color green in leaves and overshadows the orther pigments.

The second pigment that appears in leaves is carotenoid which appears as the color yellow, orange, and brown.

The third pigment that appears in leaves in anthocynins which appears at the color red.

In autumn sunlight decreases and the leaves respond by producing less chlrophyll. When the trees decrease their chlorophyll the decreased amout of chlorophyll allows the other pigments to appear creating colors such as yellow, orange, red, and brown in the leaves.

STAY SAFE, WEAR A MASK!

Most of this tour, as it is a drive-it-yourself, tour won't be impacted by the recent COVID-19 changes, but we ask that when social distancing is not possible that you respect NYS and business guidelines.

To do this, please wear a mask when around others to help keep you and our community safe!

Why is it called the Rocky Fawcett Fall Foliage Tour?

The tour was called the Rocky Fawcett Fall Foliage Tour in 2018 in Memoriam of Rocky Fawcett.

Rocky Fawcett used to put together the Fall
