Cornell Cooperative Extension is Sponsoring a 4-H Tractor Safety Course

Cornell Cooperative Extension, Lewis County 4-H Youth Development is sponsoring a Tractor Certification Course. Federal Law requires the certification program for any youth under the age of 16 who operates a tractor off property owned or leased by their parents. New York State Law requires a tractor safety certificate for youth to drive a tractor on roadways. This course will be offered for youth between the ages of 14-15 years of age. If a youth of this age plans to work on a farm, they need to hold certification in Tractor Operation. Youth already certified in tractor operation are welcome to attend for a refresher.
